BE FESTIVE YEAR-ROUND WITH WREATHS FOR ALL SEASONS. BY ERIN RILEY

Jen Fallon, owner of home design brand The Festive Home maintains the holiday spirit all year long. Her signature product, the Hampton wreath, is “versatile, but keeps true to its nautical roots,” she says, “and can be outfitted with seasonal accessories.” After designing a dinner party for friends, she decided to repurpose rope used for table centerpieces to assemble the wreath. Since then, Fallon has partnered with Product Solutions International, a firm affiliated with The Arc, a national organization that protects the rights of the intellectually and developmentally disabled. New this season is the Hampton Centerpiece, a smaller version of the wreath with a recycled-glass hurricane lamp in the center. “Add a candle and some seasonal décor, and this home accessory will complete your tablescape,” she says. ### POUR LE PATIO

Sylvester & Co. at Home launches a line of indoor/outdoor fabric designed and upholstered by East Ender Lynda Sylvester, who has been designing home furnishings for 30 years. The collection reflects Sylvester’s fascination with the Hamptons’ natural palette of weathered cedar shingles, driftwood, and sand. “Even though I love stripes, I was getting weary and wanted to build a collection with more texture and interest,” Sylvester says. “I grew up by the seashore and believe it is essential to live casually with style and with fabrics that are tough and washable.” More patterns of the 100 percent outdoor-safe collection will be available in the coming months. 154 Main St., Amagansett, 267-9777; sylvesterandco.com

BEACHY KEEN

East Hamptonite and interior designer Benjamin Cruz (212-431-9083; benjamin-cruzdesigns.com) has created a subdued nautical look for a recent project—a 3,500-square-foot, five-bedroom, four-bathroom retreat in Montauk—by sourcing focal pieces for the living room from several local retailers.

Nikki Sofa ($9,000), Verellen “I chose the sofa for its low back and clean lines. As the largest piece in the living area, it had to complement and not overwhelm it.” Sylvester & Co. at Home, 154 Main St., Amagansett, 267-9777; sylvesterathome.com

Loom kitchen stool ($1,200), Janus et Cie “These stools offer textural contrast to the sleek lines, and the greige color scheme works with the cabinets and white Caesarstone countertops.” Coastal Home, 2442 Montauk Hwy., Bridgehampton, 613-6800; coastalhomeonline.com

Venice chair and ottoman ($1,600), Serena & Lily “We like this chair and ottoman for its scale. The rattan provides an organic quality in contrast to the stark white room. The client also wanted a big chair to curl up and read in.” Serena & Lily, 332 Montauk Hwy., Wainscott, 537-5544; serenaandlily.com

Since establishing Landscape Details in 2000, Michael Derrig has built a team of 80 designers, craftsmen, and horticulturalists, who offer everything from garden design and installation to masonry and lighting. Here, Derrig speaks to three trends he incorporated into East End projects.

- Less is more: A simplified palette of more green and less color, especially when it comes to flowers and perennials, is a big trend this season.
- Geometric shapes: Walls and allees are a great way to define space and create design and interest.
- More sustainable practices: Fewer chemicals and lower maintenance is better for both the environment and the homeowner.
